

Seminars at your OFFICES

Make sure that your most valuable assets -your employees, are safe, confident, and happy both on the job and at home. Employees in many industries have regular interactions with strangers on a regular basis. These strangers on occasion can either be with your employees in less than secure areas, or can determine what schedules are and where individual employees will be at certain times. Other industries have just always been common targets for violent theft. Banks, Jewelry Stores, Realtors, Bartenders, Servers and Bouncers represent just a few of the industries affected by workplace violence.

In addition, anyone involved with helping Adults with developmental disabilities can understand the need for effective, and scalable Self-Defense techniques. Certainly anyone involved in law-enforcement, the prison systems, or services for violent offenders would also benefit from Self-Defense workshops as well.

Outside of all that -the rest of us could always benefit from a fun, empowering, Self Defense workshop :)
