

Private Lessons and Small Group Training

This is why most people sign up with DaddyDojo -they get a customized self-defense package customized to their specific interests, abilities and goals. What happens in your own session? That's up to you!

We create a mix of the parts of martial arts that you enjoy the most, along with strength and endurance training. The good news is that improved balance, flexibility and increased coordination are all a part of the martial arts anyway, so you can't help but get an amazing workout in! And its fun!
